The Street Committee recommended that the sum of $1,100 be appropriated for the construction of a terra cotta sewer on South Washington Street from Wilkes Street to a point fifty feet south of Gibson Street, but by a vote of 8 to 1 the proposition of Mr. Snowden to table the resolution, which virtually kills it, was passed. AMERICA IS SUNG AS SESSION OPENS

Meeting of Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs Opens With Patriotic Song.

HEARTY GREETINGS EXTENDED

A Number of Cordial Addresses of Welcome—Officers Make Their Reports.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

BEDFORD CITY, Va., May 13.—The first annual convention of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs was formally opened this morning by the president, Mrs. James R. Kyle, of Lynchburg. In the parish house of St. John's Episcopal Church, which, in honor of the occasion, was decorated about the vestibule with graceful palms, Boston ferns, other potted plants and cut flowers, without which, in Bedford, no function of hospitality or of public social character is considered complete.

The first number of the program was the singing by the convention of "America," led by a quartet composed of Mrs. H. B. Hurt, Mrs. W. S. Frost, of Richmond, Messrs. E. C. Burks and Andrew Carper, Mrs. L. L. Elliott, accompanist. This was followed by an invocation by Rev. Dallas Tucker, rector of the Episcopal Church.

"My Old Kentucky Home" was then sung by the quartet, after which, in behalf of the Bedford Library Association, Mrs. Walter Ruan, the president, delivered the address of welcome, a composition so graceful, bright and charming that it was received with warm applause. She spoke of Bedford as the first club to join the federation, Bedford had the distinction of being the first county in the State to respond to Governor Letcher's call for troops to resist Federal armed invasion, sending three companies to the front, and of its chief glory and pride—the matches made by the county.

She welcomed the guests to the home and hospitality of the small city and all its natural attractions.

Mrs. Caldwell Makes Response.
Mrs. M. M. Caldwell, president of the Civic Betterment League, of Roanoke, responded in happy style, the burden of her theme being "Woman's Club as an Uplift Movement in Modern Progress," dwelling especially upon the work of civic improvement for general betterment. She paid a most glowing tribute to Judge E. C. Burks, a son of Bedford, whose career in law and as a judge of the Court of Appeals, was paralleled with that of Marshall, Virginia's most famous jurist in the early history of Virginia.

Mrs. A. B. Carrington, of the Wednesday Club, of Danville, then came forward and briefly and gracefully presented the president with a gavel in behalf of her club, which was appropriately received by Mrs. Kyle.

Greetings were now in order, when Mrs. Emma Fox, of Detroit, Mich., extended a hearty welcome from the general federation; Mr. S. S. Lambeth, Jr., president of the Bedford City Improvement League, next advanced to the rostrum and though pretending to be terribly frightened at being the only one remaining in the hall, made a brief address to building up the federation, and at its conclusion hastily left the hall, overcome with modesty, he said.

Mrs. Robert B. Clayton made most cordial welcome as regent of the local federation, Mrs. D. A. R. Nelson, of Tappan, N. Y., followed in an extending welcome from the William R. Terry Chapter, U. D. C., Mrs. W. S. Paxton, of Danville, the secretary, read the greeting from Mrs. Sarah Plate Decker, the president of the general federation, expressing regret that she could not be present.

Mrs. J. W. Lish made the report on the committee on credentials.

President's Annual Report.
Mrs. Lucian Cooke, of Roanoke, was called to the chair, while Mrs. Kyle read her report, which was a able, earnest paper, full of thought and high purpose for club life of women.

Mrs. W. T. Harris, of Danville, first vice-president, being detained at home by recent affliction, no report was made.

At roll call twenty-two delegates were present. Miss Elizabeth Gish, the corresponding secretary, made an admirable and interesting report, noting the withdrawal from membership of a club of Washington Street, and the addition of a club of Beverly Manor and the Trained Nurses' Association of Lynchburg.

Captain Taylor at noon was sitting by a single box car in East Suffolk when he was overtaken by a freight car, which was loaded with lumber and crashed into the detached car. Taylor was knocked under the wheels. Gray and Kelly threw down a log before the wheels and precipitated their bodies against the end of the car. When the freight car was brought to a standstill Taylor's right arm had been crushed off and the wheels were within a few inches of his neck.

The manacled prisoners then took him to a doctor's office, notwithstanding their opportunity to escape. Taylor is now in a hospital. He will recover.
